Nairis Nursery Brand Identity & Web Design

Brief

Nairis Nursery, is a Native plant nursery based on the northern east coast, in a small coastal beach town, Matauri Bay. Nairis is a nursery that specialises in their unique knowledge systems relating to Native flaura and fauna. The nursery aslo plays a significant role in their community acting as an important gathering place for whānau to come together. A place where knowledge, memories and aroha are shared and passed down for generations to come. The task is to design a cohesive brand identity which speaks to the history of Nairis Nursery and positions their intentions for the future growth of the company through logo design, colour and typography. Visualising how this brand identity can work seamlessly accross multiple formats such as an online website, print, and merchadise.

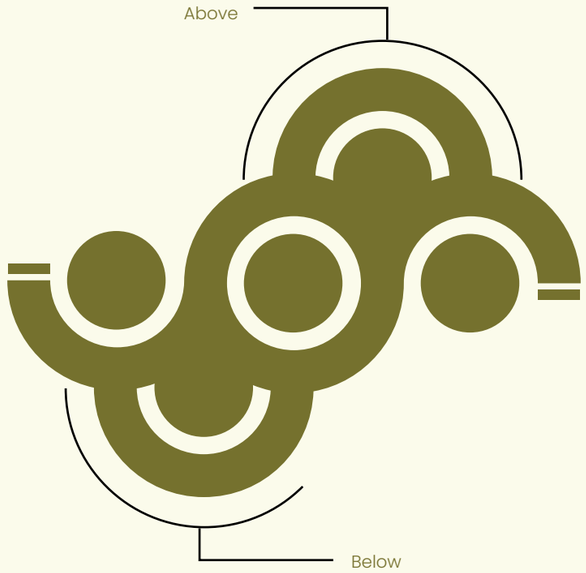
Past

An acknowledgment of the past, referencing the seed. The never ending series of beginnings as means for creation of life.



Present

An acknowledgement of the present, an ode to the continuous dedication and hardwork of the community to uphold Nairis dreams from the past and take the steps needed to reach future aspirations forevermore. It speaks to the repetitive cycle of work which maintains the health of the land and the process, building, sharing, creating, being together, whānau, spending time. Renewal.

Future

An acknowledgemnt of the future. The foresight which is embedded in the values of Nairis Nursery and everything they do. Transforming through time, harnessing the power of the collective, increasing capacity, sustainable and regeneratve growth for future.

05. PHOTOGRAPHY

Images have been sourced as placeholders from an online public image domain 'Truestock.co.nz'. These images can be purchased, online if needed. Our recomendation for imagery is to use these as a guide only when sourcing and producing orginal photography. These images have been selected as key examples of the type of imagery that would work best to include as supporting design assets to uplift your brand voice. Some key qualities to look for when curating original imagery are, images that depict a strong sense of community. Varying range of close ups and action shots of process, activities and site. Vibrant healthy strong colours.

If you wish to purchase these exact images you can find them at https://truestock.co.nz/

09. NEXT STEPS

We have rounded up a few pointers as suggestions of what your next steps might look like in finalising the content for your website and online presence. Overall the assets that we have created for you include Logo SVG Files, Social media icons, Brand identity Style Guide, Website Template, Google Business Online Workspace.

01. Photography

As mentioned, the images that are currently in use in the website template we have designed are placeholders. We suggest gathering your own photography of Nairis Nursery of the processes and activities that occur there to use for both the website and any future social media. Below are recomendations of content we think would be best to document.

Event imagery
Images of any community events that are held at the nursery. Can be used on home page and any social media.

The people behind Nairis Nursery
Professional imagery of the people behind Nairis Nursery, both individual and team shots. Can be used on the about page.

Site imagery
Images of site, any points of access that the consumer may need to know about, office, whats inside the nursery, what it looks and feels like. Can be used on the about page and any social media.

Process imagery
Detailed imaes of processes, such as planting etc. Can be used on the home page and any social media.

02. Copywriting

As mentioned all copywrite currently in use on the website template is placeholder. We have left promts in the template to guide your thinking when updating the copy. Topics cover all stated below.
